

St Matthew's club

Film highlights positive impact on community

SHOWCASE: Robbie Murray, club founder and Stephen Mather and Michael Moore

PASSION: Robbie Murray and Dylan Byrne (St Matthew's member)

sonal boxer and St Matthews Boxing Club manager – who fights seven men in one night during a charity white collar event.

"It's a journey from where the club started to show- ing club look set to show- case their talents nationwide after featuring in a documentary at the re- cent Fingal Film Festival 2013.

Director Steven Mur- ray's short film Boxing Clever details the positive impact St Matthews Box- ing Club has had on the local community since it's inception in 1979.

The documentary made a big impression at the an- nual awards ceremony at the Odeon Cinema in Blan- charstown on May 10 and 30 years ago in the toilets set up a boxing club over the passion of people who He continued: "It shows Irish professional boxing a former undefeated A former undefeated a substantial grant 10 years ago but there wasn't many women interested in join- ing. After Katie Taylor, that nine-year-old with chronic asthma and credits the club with helping him to make a spectacular recovery. "The plan now for the club is to build towards a ladies shower room. We got club.com.

A trailer for Boxing Clever can be viewed on the club's website www.stmatthewsboxing- club.com.

SUCCESS: The group of 44 certificates in Kylemore College signalled the recent completion of a successful engagement programme between students and local law enforcement officers. Pictured in Kylemore College for the secondary schools in the Dublin South Central area, the TAG Programme (Teenagers and Garda) is an initiative that supports positive engagement of teenagers with local gardai.

A Garda Band performance at Kylemore College signalled the recent completion of a successful engagement programme between students and local law enforcement officers. Pictured in Kylemore College for the secondary schools in the Dublin South Central area, the TAG Programme (Teenagers and Garda) is an initiative that supports positive engagement of teenagers with local gardai.

POSITIVE: Ballyfermot College with Kylemore College

Room to spare?

As a foster carer you can help create memories that will touch with us now to start a journey.

Brand new Blind & Curtain Fitting Charge less 20%

Free matching bedding and silver or chrome bars for all floor fittings.

Massive selection of wood and laminate floors All less 20%

MAY Bank Holiday Madness!!!

Massive Stock Clearance SALE

m.kelly
Where Quality Costs Less